The Navigators Mission

The aim of The Navigators is to help fulfill Christ's Great Commission to "go and make disciples of all nations."

This means multiplying laborers for Jesus Christ in every nation—winning men and women to Christ, helping them individually to grow into maturity as His disciples, and then training them to teach others what they have learned.

Christian maturity takes time. Developing a relationship between a person and God is a long process. So we take time helping people learn to study the Bible, to pray, and to share their faith. And they learn to teach others who in turn can grow—and teach still others. The method is one-to-one, the individualized training that produces a certain kind of Christian: a disciple with a Christ-centered life, established in the Word and prayer, motivated by love, and committed to reproducing his life in others.

The Role of NavPress

NavPress is the publishing ministry of The Navigators. We develop, test, and distribute materials that Navigator staff use in their discipling ministries around the world. We also make these materials available to a wider audience where they can be used as tools in the discipleship process.

As tools, they cannot in themselves change lives and make disciples. Only God does that. But our materials can play a crucial role in getting a disciple into the Word of God.

They organize him, direct his study, and instill valuable disciplines. They teach him how to learn for himself. And as tools in his skilled hands, they equip him to pass on to others what he has learned and applied to his own life.

Hundreds of thousands of people around the world use NavPress materials as a vital part of their ministry in churches, schools, mission organizations, and small group Bible studies, adapting what we have produced to meet their specific discipleship goals.

WARREN AND RUTH MYERS

Experiencing God's Attributes

A New Bible Study Exploring the Character of God

Warren and Ruth Myers

Aim: To grow in understanding the life-changing attributes of God through discovering who He reveals Himself to be in Scripture.

Method of Study: The student examines 12 attributes of God, by means of prayer, study and meditation on related Scripture passages, and by selecting a favorite passage, using outside material, and planning a practical application and future study. Each chapter also has a section for optional, deeper study of each attribute. The student is provided verses to consider, suggestions and instructions for studying the topic, and challenging questions.

Major Topics: God's beauty, holiness, goodness, power, majesty, love and faithfulness—with emphasis throughout on how to apply this knowledge to our daily relationship with Him and those around us.

"God has given us a portrait of Himself," the authors say. "Here in the Scriptures He unveils Himself most clearly. He has clothed these unsearchable thoughts in human words, available for us to read and understand, so that we can know the limitless God...."

Interpersonal Relationships

A Navigator Seminar Presenting
Scriptural Principles for Relationships

George Sanchez

Jesus said, "Love others as yourself." Yet everyone knows obedience to this command is not easy.

Thankfully, the Scriptures give us more than just commands. They also contain the practical guidelines to help people learn to relate more effectively to one another in love.

Drawing on his years of experience as Director of Counseling for The Navigators, author George Sanchez has organized these biblical principles in a five-session seminar for small groups. Each session has a unique format, and all the group members prepare study assignments before the group meets. Once the group is together, they move rapidly between listening to recorded lectures, discussing their completed assignments, and participating in spontaneous discussions stimulated by the leader.

Topics include biblical self-esteem, openness and teachability, and guidelines for handling conflicts.

The seminar package includes four 60-minute cassette tapes, a workbook with study assignments and lecture outlines, and a leader's guide.

The group leader should have the complete seminar package, while other group members should each have a separate workbook.

Marriage Takes More Than Love

Jack and Carole Mayhall

"All of marriage is a choice," say the authors. "One small choice follows on the heels of another."

After 28 years of marriage amid the struggle and excitement of a discipling ministry, Jack and Carole Mayhall have set down a guide for making practical choices—more than 30 of them—for a successful marriage based on Scripture.

The choices have to do with the daily realities of married life—such as choosing to be honest and choosing constructive conflict ... choosing to adjust and choosing to give.

This is a "his-and-her" book, with Jack and Carole each writing separate chapters to provide two points of view about marriage. And the book concludes with a section of discussion questions for better communication in marriage.

This book is an outgrowth of a popular marriage seminar the Mayhalls have conducted around the country. Veterans of a variety of ministries, Jack is now Executive Vice-president of The Navigators and Carole is a popular conference speaker and author.

"Our prayer," the Mayhalls write, "is that some of the things God has taught us in the last 28 years will help you fall more deeply in love—with each other and with the God who created us all."

NEEDS TO KNOW

Essentials of New Life

Francis Cosgrove

Helping young Christians get a good start in their new life is Francis Cosgrove's job at Coral Ridge Presbyterian Church in Fort Lauderdale, Florida—birthplace of Dr. D. James Kennedy's Evangelism Explosion movement.

From a comprehensive course for new believers which he designed and now teaches at Coral Ridge, Cosgrove, who is also a staff member of The Navigators, presents here the central truths a Christian needs to know—the solid foundation he must have before the true adventure of Christian living comes.

Topics include assurance of salvation, the importance of the Bible and practical steps for learning Bible truths, spending personal time with God, the Church and Christian fellowship, individual discipleship, and the lordship of Jesus Christ. Also included are charts, illustrations, and worksheets.

Here are the biblical essentials for learning to follow Jesus Christ.

No Magic Formula

LeRoy Eims

There is no magic formula for victory in Christ, but there are many biblical principles for spiritual warfare that will result in triumph for the committed Christian, as this book explains. These include faith, obedience, courage, and setting right priorities.

LeRoy Eims, International Ministry Representative for The Navigators, shows how these principles are found in the record of the people of Israel in the Old Testament, and how Christians can use them as a pattern for godly living.

"We must depend on God to give us direction," LeRoy writes, "for the ways God chooses to bring us to victory may vary greatly."

Wisdom From Above

LeRoy Eims

Solomon asked for wisdom to judge the people of Israel. God gave him that wisdom and much more—eternal principles for everyone who seeks to live life in confident conformity to the will of God.

From the first nine chapters of Proverbs, the author pulls out precious gems of biblical truth for the reader to apply to his life—wisdom for relationships, attitude changes, resisting evil, the struggles of youth, marriage, parenthood, and living a life pleasing to God.

A leader's guide for using Wisdom from Above in classes and study groups also is available.

The Lost Art of Disciple Making

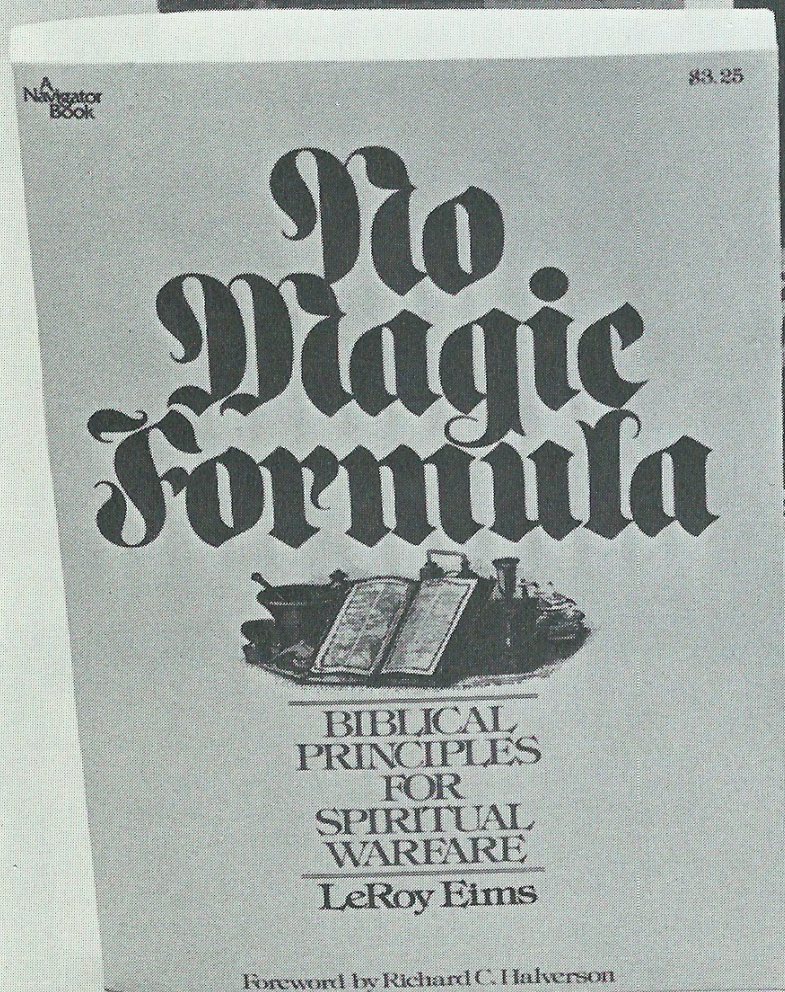

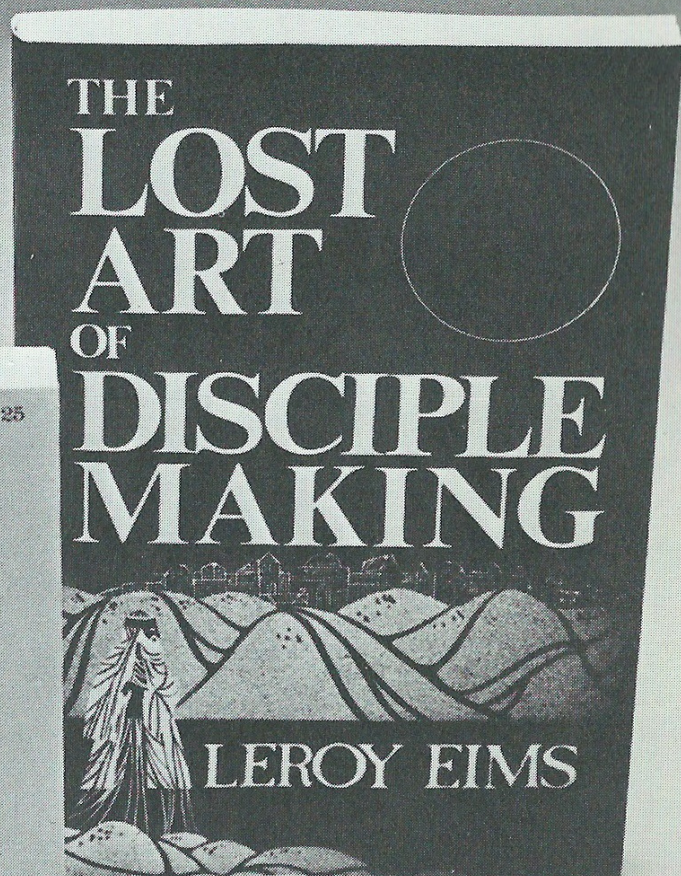

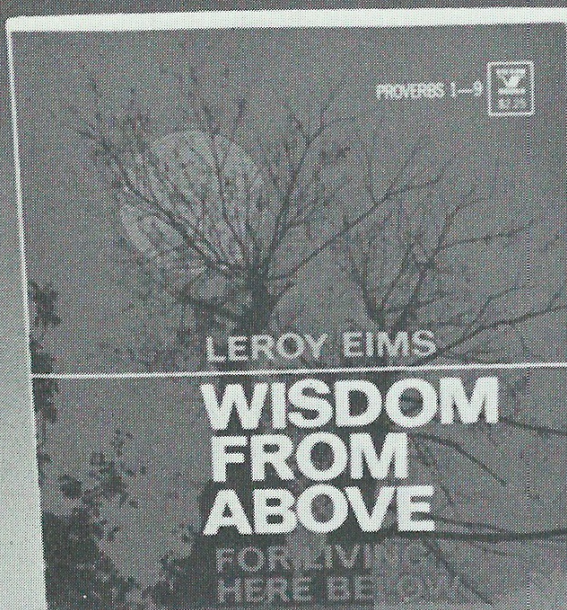

LeRoy Eims

By examining the growth process in the life of a Christian, this book tells how to train spiritually-qualified workers for Christ.

LeRoy Eims writes from his experience in discipling people who today are God's effective laborers around the world. The book presents 12 chapters of detailed guidelines and principles for training disciples, plus an extensive section on training objectives for helping a growing disciple in 30 specific areas—such as use of time, victory over sin, the will of God, witnessing, and world vision. Also included are charts and profiles showing the stages of a disciple's development.

THE LIFE AND MINISTRY OF JESUS CHRIST

11. What does Jesus teach about His forthcoming death?
(MATTHEW 26:26-28)

12. How is the rejection of Jesus explained as John's Gospel?
(JOHN 1:11-13)

A Long Day

TUESDAY, SPRING, A.D. 30
The apostles of Matthew, Mark, and Luke give more space to Jesus on the teachings of Jesus on this one day—in the temple and at the Mount of Olives—than any other.

The Withered Fig Tree
MATTHEW 21:18-22; MARK 11:12-14; LUKE 13:6-9
As Jesus and His disciples returned to Jerusalem from Bethany on what was to become an extremely full day, Peter was surprised at what was to become of the fig tree that had been so full of fruit just a few days earlier.

13. What did Jesus teach about prayer in this instance?

The Question of Jesus' Authority
MATTHEW 23:1-12; MARK 11:27-33; LUKE 20:1-8
The second cleansing of the temple again brought Jesus into conflict with the religious leaders. Calling them to account for the actions, they questioned His authority to do this. If He were the son of God, they felt, He should have attacked the Romans, not the religious establishment.

JESUS TRIUMPHAL ENTRY INTO JERUSALEM

14. How were the religious leaders' questions designed to trap Jesus?

15. How did Jesus' questions to them trap them?

16. Why did Jesus refuse to answer after they pleaded ignorance?

Three Functions of Warning
MATTHEW 23:13-15; MARK 11:15-17; LUKE 20:9-11
The hardened hearts of these religious leaders had Jesus to give them three warnings in the form of parables.

17. What is the central teaching of each of the following three parables of warning?

The Life & Ministry of Jesus Christ

A Three-book Chronological Bible Study Series

Aim: For the student to become more like Jesus Christ by learning clearly what His life was like on earth, and applying what he learns to his own life.

Method of Study: The main body of the study consists of probing questions directing students through the biblical record of Christ's life. Other features include detailed background narrative, maps, charts, excerpts from important historical, geographical, and cultural sources, an ongoing chart giving a harmony of the Gospels, and a continuous column for note taking.

Major Topics: Beginning with the prophecies foretelling the Messiah's coming, the study continues chronologically from His birth through a comprehensive examination of His life and ministry, and on to His death, resurrection, and ascension.

The study places major emphasis on application—helping the student follow in Jesus' steps.

The study is primarily designed for Christians with one to two years experience in personal Bible study. Therefore, preparation and discussion for each chapter take more time than in most Bible studies. But the additional effort will result in rewarding insights into the life of Christ.

Ministry Tips: A discipleship Bible study that emphasizes individual disciplined study. Unlike the broader DFD and SCL, this study is centered on one subject—the life of Christ. / Group leaders should use discretion in determining whether their groups are ready for a study of this difficulty.

Design for Discipleship

A Six-book Bible Study Series on Deeper Discipleship Commitment

Aim: To lead the student to a deep commitment to discipleship through a personal, scriptural examination of what discipleship involves.

Method of Study: The regular question-and-answer format is interspersed with challenging questions for deeper meditation and discussion. The series can be used by any Bible study group made up of Christians who want to grow. Individual preparation before group discussion is essential, and each chapter requires personal application.

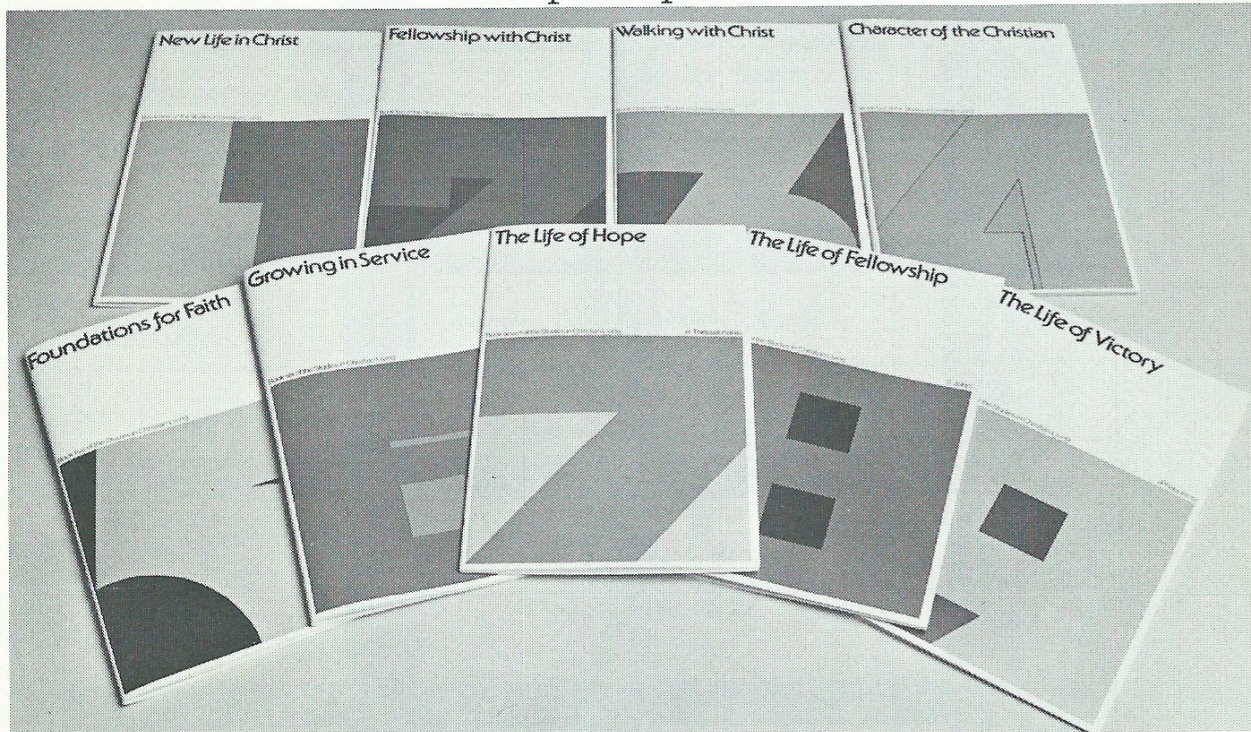

Major Topics: The series presents a well-organized and challenging study of such crucial areas in the discipleship process as the authority of the Bible, servanthood, purity of life, the lordship of Christ, world vision, and many others.

Studies in Christian Living

A Nine-book Bible Study Series on Discipleship Basics

Aim: To introduce basic truths and practical principles of discipleship through personal, guided investigation of Scripture; and to teach a method of inductive Bible study.

Method of Study: The question-and-answer format requires individual preparation before meeting for group discussion.

Major Topics: Books 1-6, as in the DFD, study basic character development and practical discipline for a Christian disciple. Books 7-9 introduce chapter-analysis Bible study methods.

SCL Book 1 includes a clear presentation of how to become a Christian. The three chapters are available as separate leaflets for use in an evangelistic Bible study group.

Every NavPress title has four special ingredients. Knowing what they are and understanding why they're there will help answer questions about our materials. These four ingredients are:

1. A learning experience based on the Word of God. We aim at exposing people to the Scriptures, not people's opinions. In many cases, we will pose a question or challenge that does not have a direct, simple answer, but instead demands careful study of Scripture.

2. An emphasis on application. We believe it is more important to apply knowledge to daily life than to constantly acquire new knowledge. Therefore, our materials are always asking, "How can you apply this to your life?"

3. An attempt to instill personal discipline. Part of the goal of each of our materials is to get the student practicing on a regular basis what he has learned and applied. Often we interrupt a

4. A stimulus for multiplication. While each of the materials is meant to be used by the student personally, an equally important aim is that they be used as a teaching tool as well—to pass on to someone else what the student has learned and applied to himself.

This chart shows how each of the NavPress materials in this catalog fits into the overall plan for helping people grow to maturity.

The top of the chart lists what we identify as the major phases of spiritual growth. The left margin lists categories under which our products fall.

By reading the categories left to right, you can use this as a starting point to determine how to use our materials to foster spiritual growth.

Topical Memory System

A Basic, Application-oriented Course in Scripture Memory

Aim: To teach students the fundamentals of memorizing Scripture passages word-for-word.

Method of Instruction: Students follow a workable plan detailed in three guidebooks. As they actually memorize 60 key passages, they also learn how to apply the verses to their lives, how to review them, and how to continue in lifelong Scripture memory.

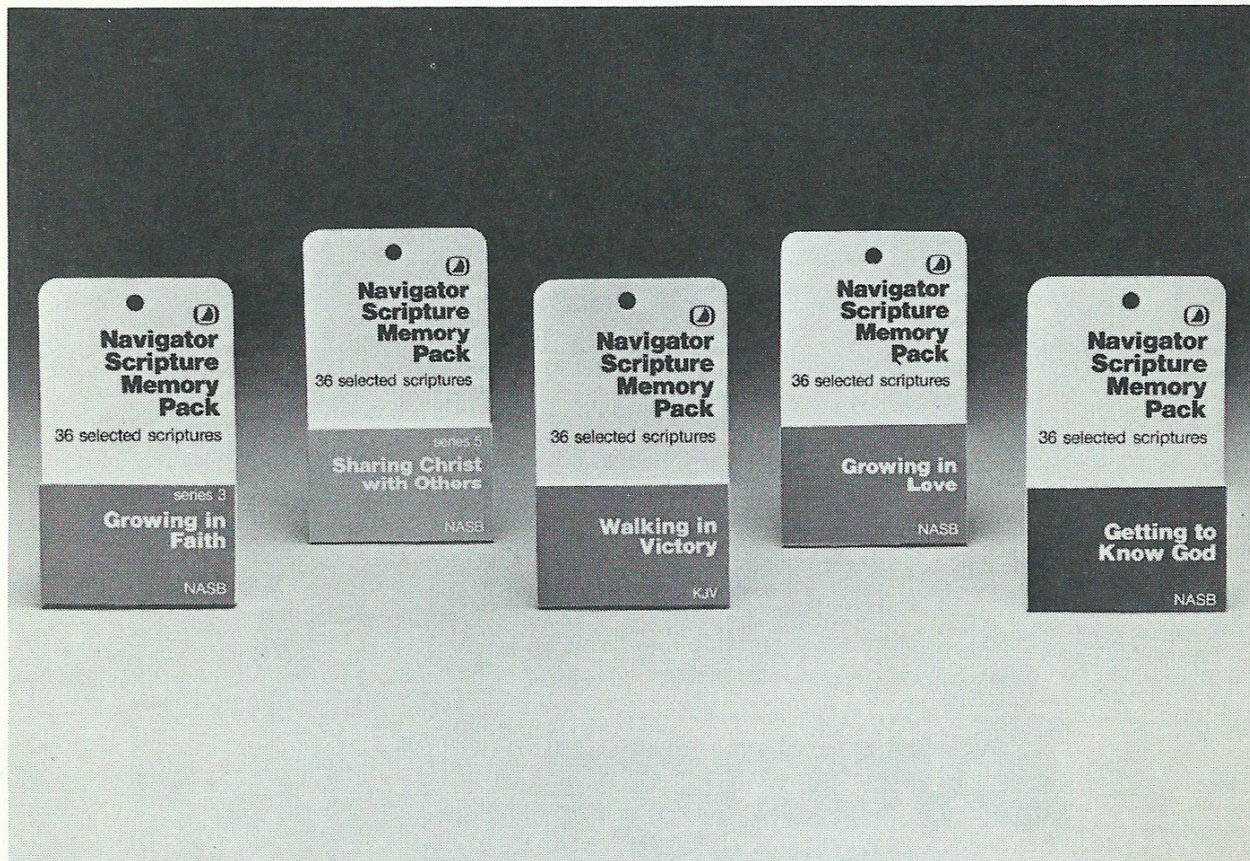

Major Topics: The TMS verses are related to basic discipleship topics, so the student can always be prepared with Scripture to answer questions others have about Christianity, to fight off temptations, and to meditate on scriptural principles.

A New Evangelistic Tool for Small Groups

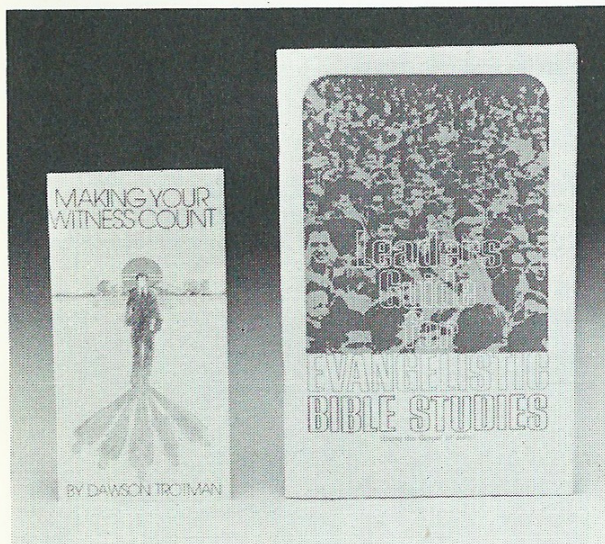

Developed for those who want to lead an evangelistic discussion group, this booklet asks three major questions—Is God really there? What happened to humanity? and Who is Jesus Christ?—in an innovative format designed to direct non-Christians into God's Word for His answers. Advance preparation by the participants is not required.

The studies can be separated from the booklet and duplicated for distribution in a group setting. Included also are instructions for how to get people to join the study group, how to lead the discussion, how to share the Gospel, and how to follow up new Christians.

Her Name Is Woman

Gien Karssen

The two Her Name Is Woman books make the stories of 48 women in the Bible come vividly alive. The author captures the spirit of the times and places surrounding each woman, and cuts through surface appearances to reveal the substantial personality of each.

Written for Bible study as well as personal reading, the books challenge readers with principles from each woman's example. Both books include the full scriptural accounts of the women, and each chapter concludes with questions for study and discussion.

God Can Make It Happen

Russ Johnston

The Bible promises much more than most Christians claim. Here the author presents scriptural principles on how to live by faith. He says: "As you begin to make decisions in light of God's promises to you, expecting His goodness, you will see God turn your life into an extraordinary adventure—because God responds to faith."

How to Order from NavPress

First, tell us who you are:

- Always use your NavPress account number when corresponding with us. If you are ordering for a church or college, write that name on the first line of the order and the name of the department or "attention of", if any, on the second. Then your address.
- If you cannot use your NavPress account number, use the same name and address consistently so that we can find your account.

Second, type or print clearly the quantities, order numbers, titles, and extended prices of the items you want.

Third, figure your postage and handling charge by the schedule at the bottom of the form.

Finally, all orders must be accompanied with payment in full. This includes check, money order or credit card numbers.

Canadian customers:

- Place orders through The Navigators of Canada, Unit 12 - 270 Esna Park Road, Markham, Ontario L3R 1H3. (416) 495-0300

We look forward to serving you in an efficient and professional manner. If in any way you are not satisfied with how your order is handled, please let us know.

Scriptural Home Seminar

This combination lecture/workbook examines what makes a Christ-centered home.

George Sanchez has developed this 12-session seminar so that husbands and wives working individually, together, and through a group discussion can build a foundation for their homes.

Topics include the husband's and wife's roles; love, differences, and conflicts; communication, the home as the center of worship and ministry; and relationships with children.

The complete set includes a vinyl binder, workbook, leader's guide, and six tapes.
